CHAPTER I: ACADEMICS
CHAPTER II: FACULTY/STAFF
CHAPTER III: SPORTS
CHAPTER IV: CHARACTERS
CHAPTER V: SCHOOL LIFE
CHAPTER VI: AUTHORS

This story takes place at South Intermediate School, 224 N. Elm, Saginaw Michigan in the year 1985.

Our main characters are the students, faculty, and administration. Throughout the chapters of this book you will be introduced to each and every one of the main characters.

Our story starts out with our cast of characters in the classrooms of South. Chapter two is about the people who make this school run smoothly — our faculty and staff.

The next chapter is about South's competitive sports — the highlight of our school. In chapter four we introduce our cast of characters with their name and picture. Chapter five tells about the school activities at South — activities such as dances, pom pon, guitar, Madrigals, 9A, and cheerleading.

The last chapter of our book gives credit to the authors who make the yearbook what it is.

The highlights of the '84-85 school year were when South captured the city championships for boys' baseball, boys' swimming, and girls' softball. The 9A Prom is always the highlight of our school year. When the 9th graders get all dressed up in their gowns and tuxedos, they are very hard to recognize.

1984-85 proved to be the year of the Tiger. Students and faculty were caught up in Tiger fever. On October 14, 1984 the Detroit Tigers became the world champs of baseball!

South is very happy with its new facelift — new lockers, bathrooms, windows, and refinished gym floors.

These are just more examples of the continued drive for excellence at South Intermediate School.

We are proud to be Rebels!

Academics

In this chapter of our book you will find the classes that are a available at South Intermediate School.

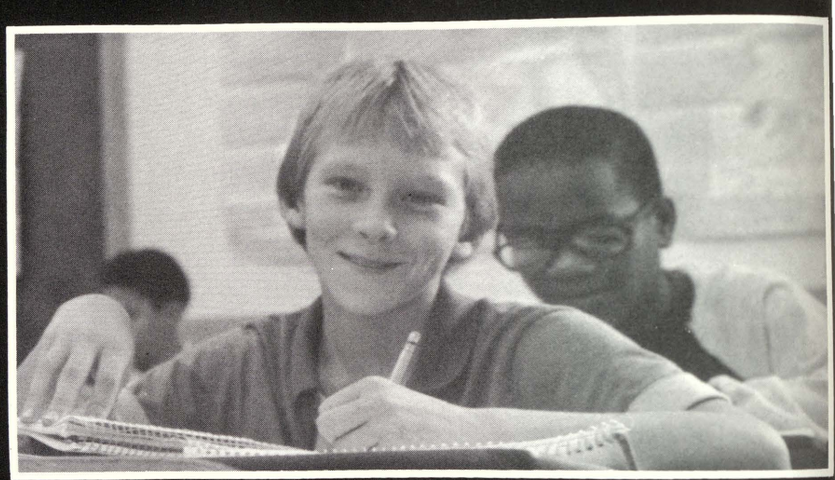
Math and science are required classes students have to take. They offer knowledge and are needed for the students' futures.

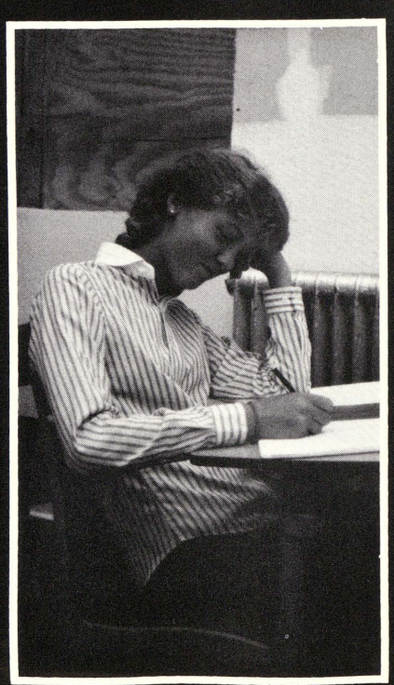
The electives are classes that students choose themselves.

Students have the choice of two of them. Some of these classes are typing, wood shop, and cooking. Students may enjoy them as a hobby or they may provide a background for their future.

South students are thankful for the many classes that South offers.

Pamela Unger





Tom Wobio and Quincy Jones work on their map skills.
Sarah Chilton checks her answer.

Learning Skills

In speech and study skills, students learn how to communicate in creative ways, learn how to make outlines, and learn how to use the library.

Future Talents

The future talents at South are many. South excels in the fields of art, guitar, music and gym.

In guitar, the students perform at Christmas and Spring concerts for parents and guests. The class consists of 8th and 9th graders at advanced and beginning levels.

In gym, students play softball, football, soccer, volleyball and participate in various other sports and activities.

Art classes are very enjoyable at South. The students look forward to the Industrial Arts Fair at South. Every student is always hopeful that their work will be entered in the fair.

Jill Pyscher

"All aboard the crazy train," sings the next Ozzy, Kevin Kennedy.
Annie Monsees, Ashley Alfano, Mandy Sierocki, Lori Trudell and Julie Yeager have fun after gym.
Madrigals pay strict attention.
Brenda Brown and friend enjoy the art exhibits at the Industrial Arts Fair.

Learning About The World

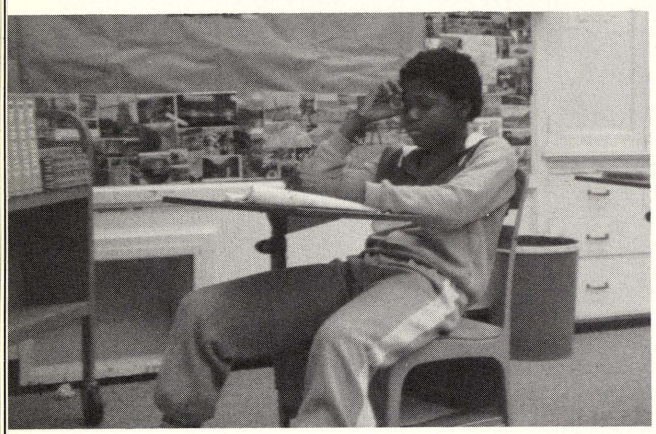
In social studies students learn many things about the world and the United States.

Social studies is about the culture in different countries. In this class students enjoy reading and using many different materials.

Mr. Harvey, Mr. Roth, Mr. Jacobson, Mr. Meinecke, Mrs. Roberts and Mr. Hess all teach these interesting classes.

Pablo Ruiz



Andy Doane and Bridget Beeckman find Mr. Hess' class amusing, and Ty Martin and Jennifer Conrad find it serious business.

Marcus Bernal, Aaron Gillem and Greg Helpap are studying their states and capitals in Mr. Roth's geography class.

In Mrs. Webb's class, Latherian Harris wonders, "East, West, North or South?"

Jessica Jimenez ponders, "Is the capital of North Carolina Raleigh or Columbia?"

"I hope the parents appreciate this beautiful bulletin board too!" says Mr. Roth.

Advanced Studies For 9th Grade

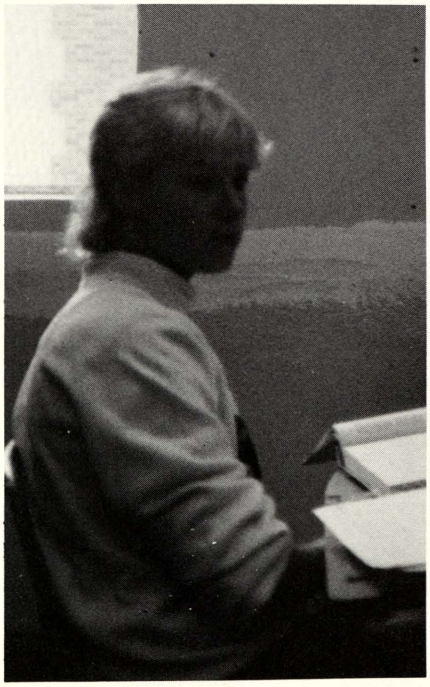
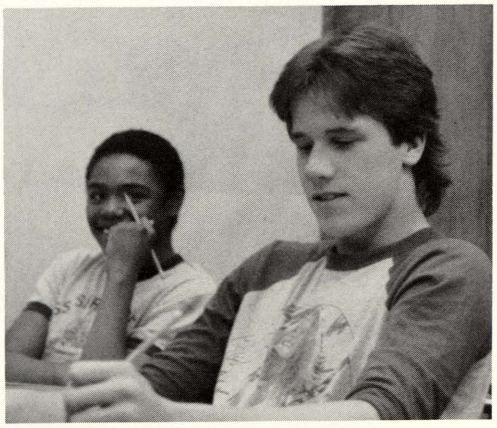
Ninth grade is the time to start thinking about the future. In Consumer Economics, students learn about different careers and how to spend their money wisely.

Guest speakers, films, and worksheets make this class interesting and different each day.

Civics is a class about citizenship and the government in the United States. The different branches of government, and the Constitution are the main concepts taught in this class.

Dan Smith





"Get away from me with that camera," thinks Michelle McKim.
"Who needs to know about the RN number?" asks Jennifer Bull.
Michael Cruz, Bob Baker, David Neitzelt, Julie Helpap, and Colonya Calhoun are listening intently to Mr. Kempf.
"Oh, God! I love the U.S." reflects Jill Coe.
Michael Welch and Pete Hayes wonder, "Will I be pretty? Will I be rich?"

Math And Science

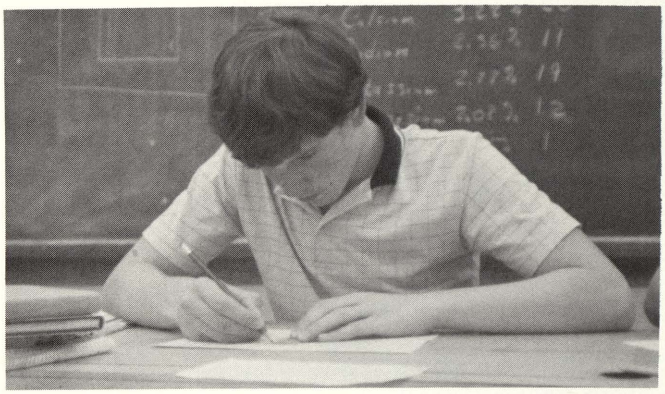
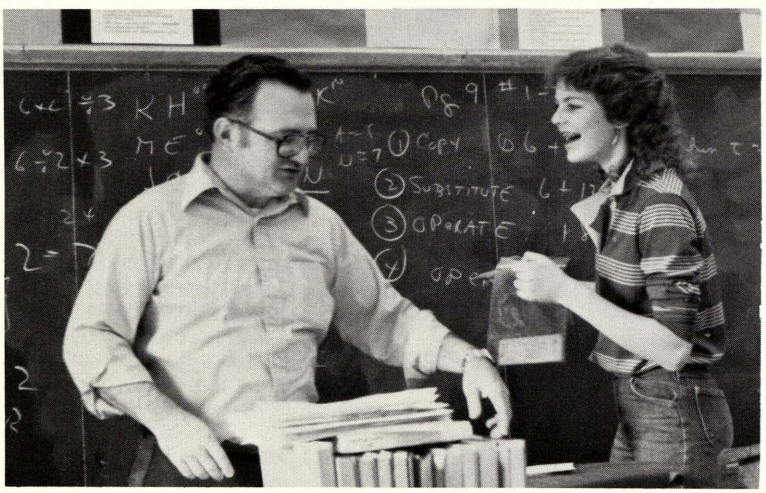
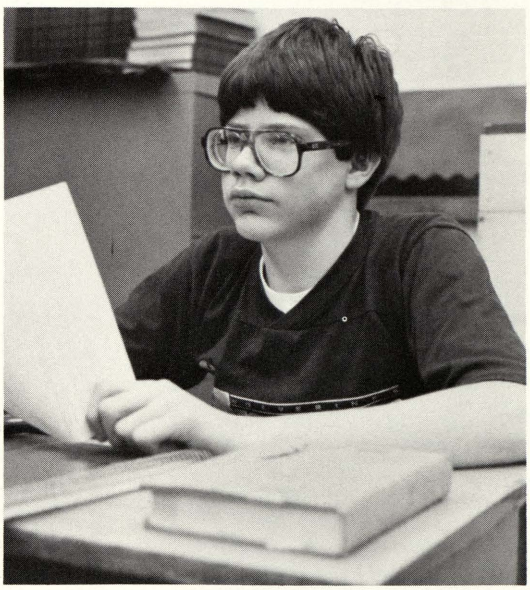
Tim Church, Amy Ribble, and Mike Riebschleger concentrate in math class.



Matt Corrigan works hard at learning the elements in science class.



"Eureka, I've done it!" Michelle McKim tells Mr. Mosca.



Joey Lafaro listens carefully in science class.

Learn To Enjoy Industrial Arts

Chuck Sadewater and Brian Root work with the table saw in wood shop.
Students learn the different uses of the machines in metal shop.
Melanie Bird wonders if she is loading the typesetter correctly.
Greg St. Charles uses a vice to work on his project.
"Is that two inches or two centimeters?" cries Mario Noland.
"Peek-a-boo!" cries Marci Haiser as Kevin Bourcier works on his pictures in drafting.

Students Enjoy Electives

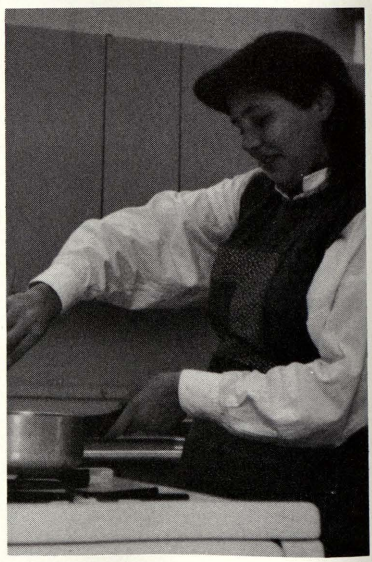
Monsherri Brascom, Lloyd Grant, and Donald Ashmall are working hard in French class.
Amy Ribble listens very carefully in Mr. Gonzales' Spanish class.
Sherri Fila is busy sewing her project in Mrs. Brown's class.
Jill Coe, Tarsha Harrison and Jennifer Flattery are asking, "J, J, J, space?"
Anne Lambert enjoys being the cook.



Chapter II

Faculty And Staff

Dr. Robert Crane gets ready for another busy school day. This is the 9th grade counselor?

South School is very fortunate to have the strong professional and support staff that it has.

Our professional staff consists of Principal Dr. Robert Crane, Vice Principals Mr. Duane Maas and Mrs. Margaret Brown; counselors Mr. Larry Roth, Mr. James Snyder, and Mrs. Lynne George; and forty-two teachers who all do a super job helping South students obtain the best education possible.

South's support staff consists of the cafeteria employees Phyllis Lesh, Kathy Mudgett, and Elizabeth Baumgarner; secretaries Mrs. Lois Schallhorn and Mrs. Marge Coates; para-professionals Rose Marr, Luegartha Warren, Paul Crane, George Baber, Dean Hoffman and David Carter; custodians David Boice, head custodian, Ken L. Cramer, Ken B. Cramer, Lavonne Cramer, Marry Hoffman, and Martin Walters who is the general utility manager.

The SIS BOOM Staff wishes to thank our staff for making South what it is — the best jr. high in the city.

Renae Baze

Helpers Keep South Going

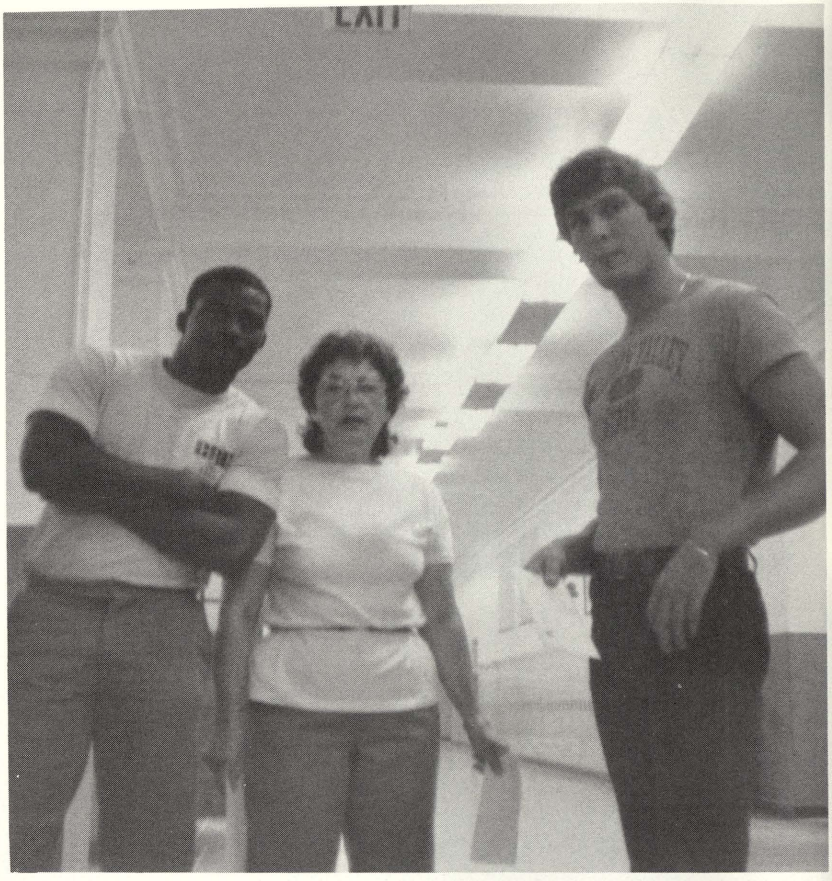
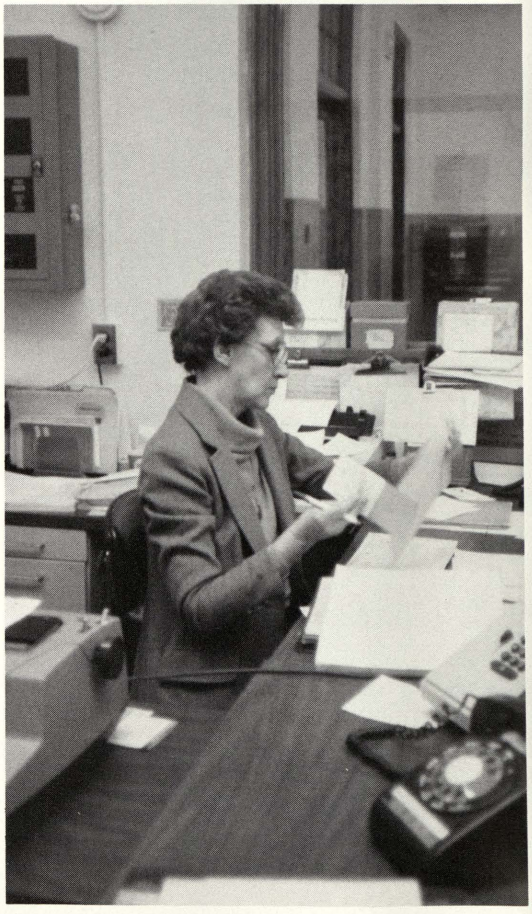
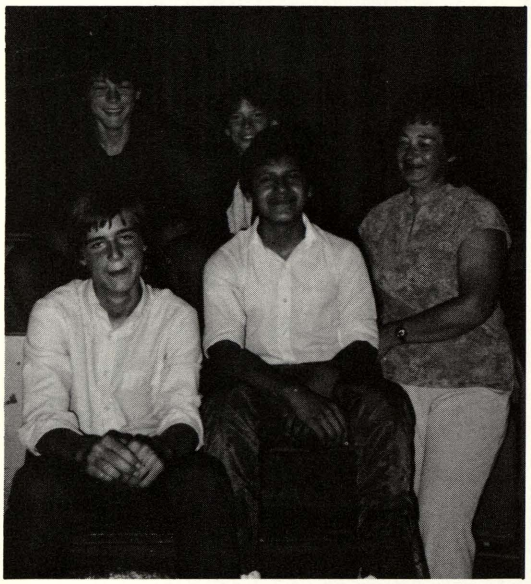
George Babers, Rose Marr, and Paul Crane are our faithful para-professionals.
Office Workers are: Renae Baze, Amy Ribble, Jennifer Bull, Amy Minard, Connie Walker, Kathy Cesarz, Jennifer Miller, and Tracy Keller.
Mrs. Marge Coates — "What would we do without her?"





This year the help from the workers was tremendous. The students and para-professionals were helpful, and they worked hard to help South run smoothly. Each of them did their job well and enjoyed doing it as much as the student body appreciated the help.

Julie Kanary



Cafeteria Workers: Martin Rogers, Doug Eagly, Nathan Clark, Bill Mosher, Michele Wilson, Bob Gaertner, Matt Brown, Darryl Wascher, Mary Lester. Not pictured: Todd Honeycutt, Gena Teneyuque, Lue Warren.

Cafeteria Manager Phyllis Lesh tells Mr. Mathews, "It's so good!"

The Counselors Looking Out For You

When in school, you are always under the care and guidance of the counselors and Officer Muylle.

Mrs. George is the 7th grade counselor, Mr. Snyder is the 8th grade counselor, and Mr. Roth is the counselor for the 9th grade. They do their jobs well with understanding, experience, and humor.

Michelle McKim
Kevin Kennedy

Officer Muylle — a friend we all want and need.
The counselors — our friends, mentors, and advisers.
Counseling Center Helpers: Tara Slocum, Wendy Wier, Julie Helpap, Cindy Ellen, Karen Sullivan, and Christie Canda.

Days Gone By . . .

The phrase "Days Gone By" often refers to the past events in our lives that were special. They are often unthought of until a certain phrase or picture brings back those many memories.

The following pictures mean certain feelings and memories to the people pictured in them.

Enjoy them as the owners do; regard them as a source of entertainment and memories for the following years to come.

Our School Mentors

Dedicated faculty members and administrators often work overtime to complete tasks that will help school work go smoother.

Many years of hard work and dedication have helped the numerous young people who have walked through these halls.

Teachers who have taught for an abundant number of years are:

Roger Little — 30 years
Gene Beuthin — 29 years
Carl Jacobson — 23 years
Carole Maas — 21 years
Robert Carlyon — 21 years
Daniel Kempf — 21 years
Vincent Mosca — 20 years

All the teachers and the administrators' years of hard work and dedication has paid off — South students are the greatest!

Sports

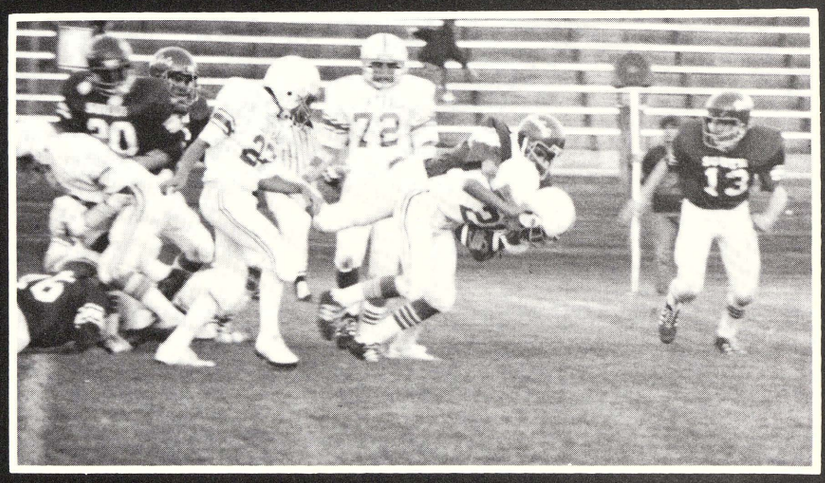
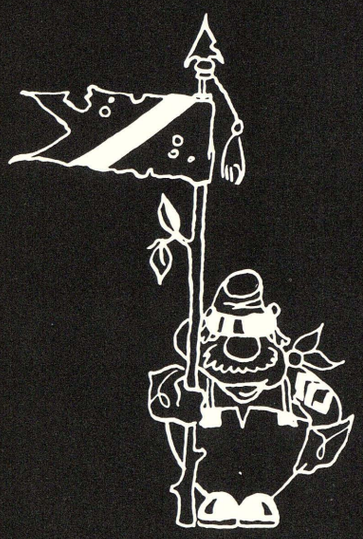
South School is always active in sports throughout the school year. It is not unusual for South to be top-ranked in a sporting event. This chapter honors all of the fantastic athletes that we have on our teams.

Paul Larsen
Michelle McKim





South's football team takes the defensive with an outstanding tackle. They were able to play Midland Central's team in Arthur Hill Stadium for this game.
Dana Sedwick takes a shot for South's girls' basketball team in a game against North.

Mindy James hopes the team's mascot will bring them luck.
"What a game," cries Debbie Priebe while Linda Wyatt discusses a play with Coach George.
Jill Coe's fans scream — "Great spike, Jill!"
Renee Talik seems very calm as she practices her serve before a game.
Dr. Crane, Officer Muylle, and Mr. Mosca enjoy watching from the sidelines.

"Swim Swam Swum!"

Right: South's wonderful swimmers are not always so lively and graceful as they seem: Andy Dunham is bewildered, Alan Ruffin stares in wonder, Brian Bahr is lost, and God knows what Brant Coulter is doing!

This year, as in all the years of South's vintage swimming, our swimmers are out to drown all forms of competition. Hopefully this year, like many other glorious years, South will go undefeated and capture the City Junior High Championship title.

Swim teams such as this have made South great in years past, and will continue to do so in the future.

This 84-85 swim team is potentially unbeatable, and has carried South's title with pride, distinction, respect, and victory.

Brant Coulter

Cast Of Characters

In this chapter you will be introduced to the students that attend South School.

They are listed according to their grade and are in alphabetical order.

Also you will see pictures of the students in classes, in the halls at lunch, and with friends and faculty.

There are 899 students that attend South School. The majority of the students are eighth graders totaling 322. The seventh graders have 302 students and ninth graders have 275 students.

The cast of characters is what this chapter is all about. You, as the characters, are part of the history of South Intermediate School for the 1984-85 school year.

Spirit Week Takes It Away!

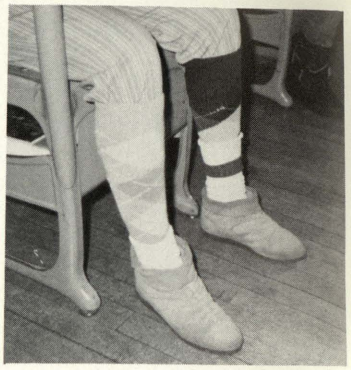
Michelle McKim shows her spirit on "pin day."

Mrs. Haines has "eyes" for Spirit Week.

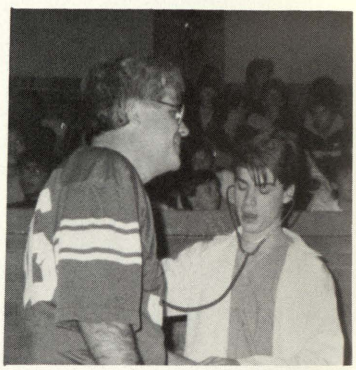
Mrs. Sternhagen takes a "breather" during the faculty/city police basketball game.

"And they said Spirit Week wouldn't be fun!"

"Give me an "S!"



"Sorry, but this booth is taken."



"If we can't get your blood pressure up, you'll get a delayed of game penalty."

The most exciting week of the school year was Spirit Week.

Spirit Week consisted of five special days which included: green and white day, funky sock day, sweatshirt day, pin day, and security day. The whole week gave the students and faculty a chance to show their school spirit.

On the last day of Spirit Week, the teachers got a chance to get into the action. They joined together in a game of basketball with the Saginaw Police Department. The game ended in a 44-44 all tie.

Fun was enjoyed by all!

Sarena McKinnie

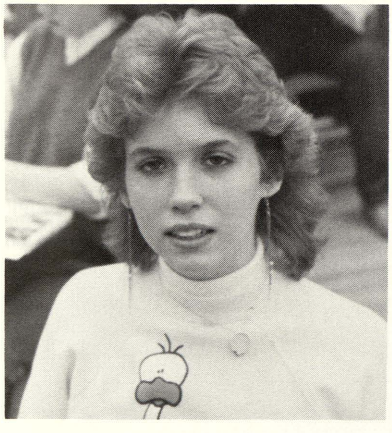
"I just love sweatshirt day!"

"What do you mean heels and knee socks aren't in?"

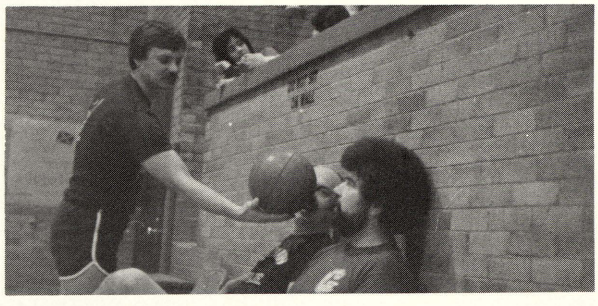
"We're speechless over pin day."

Renae Baze tells the team her game plan for winning the game.

"Oh coach, you really want to send in George and Baber?"



"I 'quack' up over Spirit Week."



"My dear team mate, this is a basketball!"

The Coke Taste Test

South students participate in a Coca-Cola taste test this year. The challenge is to see if South's students can name the beverage that they are drinking without being given the name.

The choices are Coca-Cola, Diet Coke and Caffeine-Free Coke.

The results of this challenge are that the majority of the students can tell the difference between the three.

School Life

Students at South are easy to spot. They are active and take part in many events.

Students participate in such extracurricular activities as guitar, Madrigals, pom pon and cheerleading.

During lunch, our students have the most fun. They play intramural sports during lunch time.

One of the biggest events of the year is the 9A. It is a junior prom for the 9th graders of South. Weeks of preparation go into the 9A. Committees are formed for helping out with food preparation and decorating. South students usually wear suits, tuxedos or formal gowns to the dance. Some couples even come to the 9A in a limousine.

As you can see, South students' school lives are very fulfilling and the students have a variety of different activities to take part in.

9A Was Almost Paradise

Ah, a night to remember! Every year the ninth graders of South School look forward to the biggest night of the year — the 9A Prom.

This past year the theme of the 9A was "Almost Paradise." Much work and preparation went into the prom. The faculty committee that worked on the details were Mrs. Sternhagen, Mrs. Vitito, Mrs. Crevia, Mrs. George, Mrs. Carroll, and Mrs. Haines.

Many parents prepared food and worked the night of the 9A. The C.O.C. students designed and set up the landscape decorations.

The evening certainly was — "Almost Paradise."

Chow Time

Ahh yes!! The most popular part of the day — LUNCH!! This is also a time when everyone is free to roam. Whether it's pizza from Little Caesar's or a burrito from Rebel, everyone is munching. There is also an occasional visit to the cafeteria.

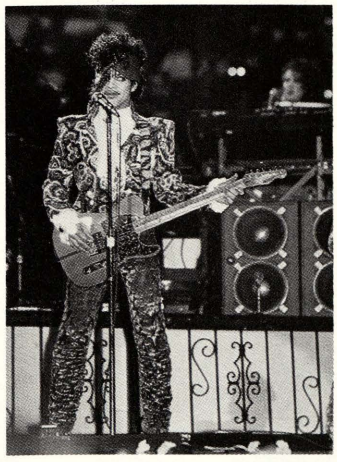
This year as well as others, music played an important part of the year. Here Bob Gaertner proves this.

Bruce Springsteen made a smash with his songs "Born in the U.S.A." and "Dancing in the Dark," both off of the "Born in the U.S.A." album.

Duran Duran came out rocking this year with their new album "Arena" which had the "Wild Boys" with its erotic drum beat and Simon's rasping voice.

Two-tone jeans are all the rage this year!



Prince, starring in his own movie, takes the world by storm this year.

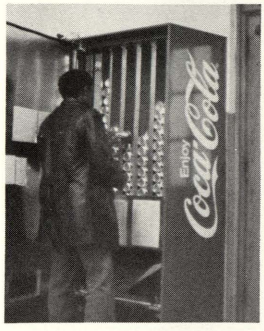
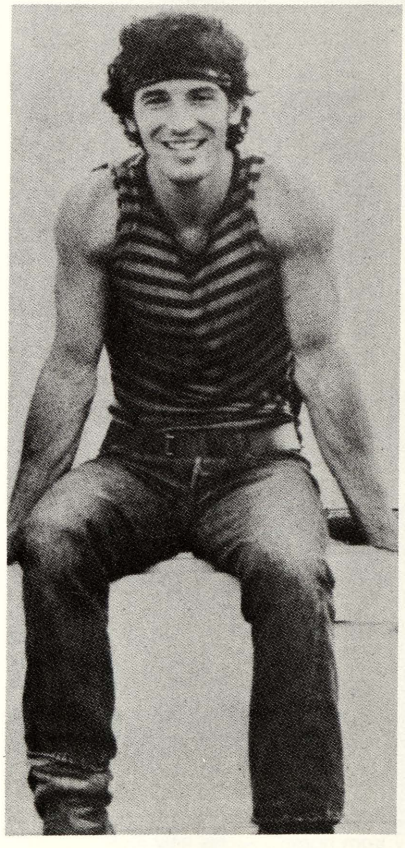
Unusual Tactics By Mediator Kept City Schools Open

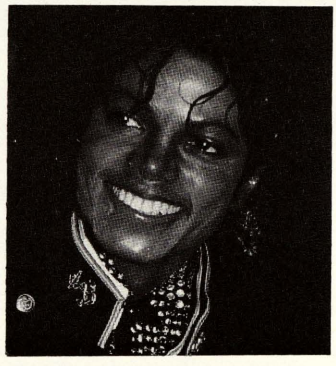


To our surprise, South got not only one Coke machine, but two!

Pact ratified, board, union try to end 'bad blood'

A threat of a possible teacher strike plays an important part in South's school year. Fortunately we started school on time . . . thanks to the hard work and cooperation of both sides of the bargaining table.





This page is our story of what the year is about. The school year got off to a good start with the Detroit Tigers winning the World Series and getting the "winningest" record in history.

Music of the year starts off by the craze of the Michael Jackson Victory Tour . . . along with its $30 tickets and mass confusion.

While Michael is busy arguing with producers and promoters, Prince releases a smashing new album "Purple Rain." Critics say Prince, with his Jimi Hendrix style guitar riffs and guteral moans, is annihilating the Jackson's Victory Album.

A poll taken at South reveals the best movie of the year is "Beverly Hills Cop," and the best singer is Prince. The most popular bands are Chicago, Van Halen, and Duran Duran. "Like a Virgin" is voted the best song of the year.

Ronald Reagan is reelected President of the U.S. defeating Walter Mondale and the first female candidate for Vice President, Geraldine Ferraro.

M.T.V. is big again this year with bands such as Duran Duran and Wham holding their own.

Students are wearing little leather bracelets with a certain number of knots or loops to symbolize something — usually a boyfriend or a girlfriend's name.

Flourescent sweaters, shirts, sweatshirts, earrings, and socks are really "big" this year. Black pants with flourescent hearts on them are also popular.

The "Madonna Look" of wearing bows in the hair is very popular this year also. Many girls seem to like it.

That, in a nutshell, is what happening this year through the eyes of South's Journalism staff.

Kevin Kennedy

South Gets A Facelift

South School received a face lift during the 1984-85 school year.

One quarter of a million dollars was spent on remodeling South. A new roof was put on; gym floors were refinished; the bathrooms were completely redone with new walls and fixtures; new colorful lockers replaced the old ones; and new windows were installed to help keep heating costs to a minimum.

A quarter of a million dollars may seem like a lot of money to spend, but the end result was worth it. South looks like a million.

Renae Baze
Dan Smith

The workmen have become familiar faces during their "stay" at South.
Kevin Kennedy's "home away from home" — his new locker.
Bathroom sinks and hand dryers are part of the new fixtures of South's new bathrooms.

And If You Vote For Me . . .

"And if you vote for me I promise . . . Does this sound familiar? It should because almost every candidate uses this phrase during a campaign speech. South's own presidential election for student body president and vice-president was no excpetion. This year the candidates were Melissa Eckhardt, Catrina Williams, Kevin Kennedy, Jeff Martin and John Martin.

The election resulted in a tie between Melissa and Catrina, but Melissa came out the winner with Catrina being elected vice-president. Congratulations to all the candidates for doing their best!

Below are some photos of Friday night dances. There are four dances a year; a Halloween dance, Christmas dance, Valentine's dance and an Easter dance. The admission price is $1.50. Paula Hackstadt

Chapter VI

Authors

In this chapter of our book you will find the Journalism class who are the authors of this book. They have put many hours of hard work in and out of class to make this year's yearbook the best one South ever published.

Mrs. Carroll, our adviser, is the best. She directs us in the design and lay out of our yearbook. Responsibility and cooperation are her two main goals for the class to attain.

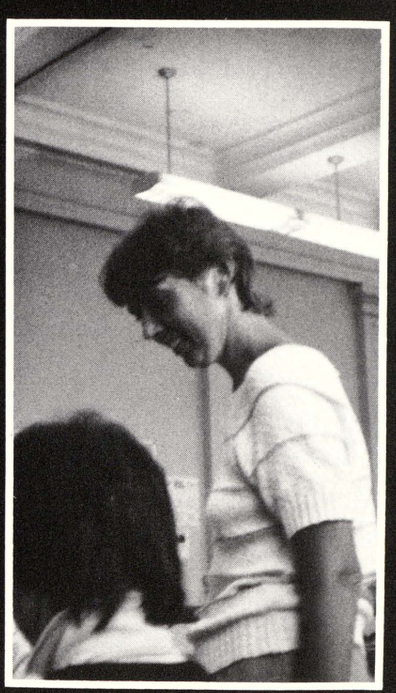
Hubert Alexander, Pari Allen, Renae Baze, Brant Coulter, Paula Hackstadt, Marci Haiser, Phillip Hernandez, Julie Kanary, Kevin Kennedy, Paul Larsen, Amy Martin, Michelle McKim, Sarena McKinnie, Jill Psycher, Pablo Ruiz, Dan Smith, Jill Sproull, Pamela Unger, Deana Wieland, Douglas Wortley, and Denae Roach have learned that working together results in meeting our deadlines and getting the job done.

A special thanks to Michelle McKim, Pamela Unger, and Dan Smith who have designed the front cover of this year's SIS BOOM. Another special thanks goes to Jill Sproull, Paul Larsen, and Kevin Kennedy for being our staff photographers.

This is just one chapter in the life of South School. This yearbook is for your enjoyment and your historical record of the 1984-85 school year.

And so the story of the "Rebels" continues . . .

Pamela Unger



Marci Haiser says, "You mean this is a deadline page?"
Mrs. Carroll is pleased with Julie Kanary's lay out and copy for page 15.
